The Scions of Colonial Cavaliers will on November 13 celebrate the 321st birthday anniversary of Charles I., the King of England who was so long interested in the early development of our country, and whose history so many people of colonial lineage still cherish. It is believed this is the only society in the United States that celebrates the anniversary of his birth. Dr. Charles W. de Lyon, Nicholas is head of the New York chapter and Mr. Daniel Smith Gordon head of the local chapter. There will be speaking and dancing.

A costume Halloween dance was given Saturday at the Marine barracks by the members of the U. S. S. Jacob Jones Post, No. 2, of the American Legion. A section of the Marine Band played for the dancing, and the grand march which was led by Miss Lois M. Beach as a colonial dame and Mr. William B. Crowell as Chu Chin Chow, was followed by a moonlight waltz. In the absence of the post commander, Mrs. Martha E. Whitcomb acted as hostess. Miss Helen Philibert was in charge of the floor and was assisted by Miss Edith Warren. Mrs. Kaack and Miss Beach.

The post will give a card party at the Richmond Hotel next month. Miss Rose F. Stokes, past commander of the U. S. S. Jacob Jones Post, is attending the national convention of the American Legion in Kansas City as one of the delegates of the District department delegation. Miss Eunice Dessez, Miss Merle Riffe and Miss Marie Marshall, comrades of the post, are also at the convention.

Hobart Green, Billy Stimson, Charles Bernard and Warren Churchill.

Two very enjoyable Halloween parties were given by the Mildred Lee Society, children of the Confederacy, on October 29, at the home of Mrs. A. W. Wells, directress. The younger children came in the afternoon and the older ones in the evening. Music and various games were enjoyed. Hot parties were well attended. Refreshments were served. The house was beautifully decorated with orange and black, and with cornstalks, autumn leaves and cut flowers. Miss Eunice Taylor, Miss Ethel Johnson and Miss Edna Wells assisted in the entertaining.

Honor Memory Of Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Sunday was the second anniversary of the death of Ella Wheeler Wilcox, America's most famous woman writer, and the occasion was honored by a group of poets, artists, musicians and other admirers of this great woman's works at a memorial tea given in Mrs. Eyril Mock's studio, at the Sign of the Mocking Bird, in Capitol Hill, where artists from two continents met to honor her memory. "The Passing of a Soul," written especially for the occasion by Mrs. K. Arthur-Behenna of London, England, was set to music by Willette Wilbourne, pianist, composer and singer. It was arranged as a duet and sung by Miss Wilbourne, soprano, and her equally gifted mother, Mrs. Rita Wilbourne, contralto. They sang a duet from the "Stabat Mater" and Mrs. Wilbourne sang "How Many Times Do I Love Thee, Dear?" composed and dedicated to her by her daughter. Miss Wilbourne played two piano solos, "The Desert" and "Sunset," both her own compositions. An entertaining and delightful talk was given by Gen. Amos A. Fries, head of the chemical warfare department of the United States Army. Gen. Fries told of Ella Wheeler Wilcox's work in France among the soldiers during the war, where he met her for the first and last time. Mr. C. A. Wrang, an Australian aeronautical engineer, gave a fine exposition of Mrs. Wilcox's belief in spiritualism. Mrs. J. H. Boggs poured tea.
